New Year- New Things – New Energy

By Julie Lee
President, Glencarlyn Citizens' Association

The Glencarlyn Citizens' Association is starting a new year. And with it comes some new and exciting things for our community. First and foremost, we are thrilled to have our new Village View editors- Tracy and Brandon Hemel. Please thank them for taking this important position.

We have also launched a new website. Many thanks to Scott Downie, and our web team Pete Olivere and Doug Leroy. The site is still in its infancy and will be experiencing some growing pains for awhile. However this is a wonderful opportunity for you to have some input on its design. Please check it out and send your thoughts and suggestions to me: jfblee@aol.com and/or to the web team: glencarlyn.webteam@gmail.com.

And most importantly- we are making it easier for you to pay your dues by providing a new online link on our new website and accepting credit cards. Please go to: glencarlyn.org and PAY YOUR DUES NOW.

Our new picnic pavilion withstood the tremendous flooding that roared through Glencarlyn Park. Our new "Tree Committee" is working hard and will be presenting a very informative program at our Nov GCA meeting. We should have new screening around the library dumpster before next spring. Congratulations to our youth services librarian, Mike Nelson, for having Glencarlyn Library's most successful summer reading program ever! Mike is a wonderful, and now not so new, addition to our great library staff.

We hope the excitement and attendance that we had at our new Glencarlyn Days BBQ spill over to our Fall Family Picnic/Potluck on Sat Sept 14th, 4:30- 7:30 p.m.. Bring something to throw on the grill, a dish to share, and come catch up with your neighbors and make some new friends. I am sure there are fun summer stories to share. We all continue to see the many new families moving into our community and the many new babies arriving. It is wonderful to see our neighborhood grow and thrive. It is truly a renaissance.

There is a new energy in our community. My hope is that we will continue to see additional new families participating in and new volunteers helping with ALL of our many activities- the Fall Picnic/Potluck, the Halloween Party, the December Luminaria and more. Please contact me, if you would like more information and can help jfblee@aol.com. Plan to attend the Sept 9th GCA meeting to hear more about what is NEW in your neighborhood.

Please check out our new website at www.glencarlyn.org

You can now pay your association dues online via our payment portal.

Special Family Event at Ball-Sellers House, Sun., Sept. 22

The Historic Ball-Sellers House at 5620 3rd St. South is the oldest structure in Arlington County

The Ball-Sellers House is hosting a special family event on Sunday, September 22 at 2:00 p.m..

Author Libby McNamee will be speaking about her book: Susanna's Midnight Ride: The Girl Who Won the Revolutionary War.

Meet the author who discovered a true story of heroism during the Revolutionary War right here in Virginia. Libby McNamee wrote a historical novel about young Susanna's ride to save Lafayette from the British.

Her story has inspired young girls (and boys) everywhere. What better place to learn about the heroism of a young girl in the Revolutionary War than the oldest house in Arlington?

John and Elizabeth Ball, the builders of this house in the 1700s, had five daughters who could have been inspired by the hero of this true story. Bring your family and a blanket or lawn chair. Books will be available for purchase.

In case of rain, the event will be at Carlin Hall.

Welcome Laura Harwood and Stephen Kaiser to Glencarlyn

By Sue Eisenfeld

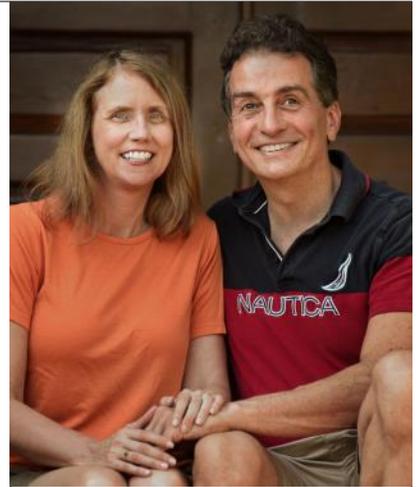

The couple, recently married, moved into the beautiful Victorian on Second Street.

"The house spoke to me," Steve said about the first time he saw the place, with its striking ornamental trim and woodwork and large and colorful stained-glass windows.

They are thrilled to be in their new house and mentioned the neighborhood's history, park, and library as key selling points. The couple has already been introduced to our Glencarlyn spirit by attending the Friday night barbeque during Glencarlyn Day weekend.

Both originally from New Jersey, they are already long-time Arlington residents, with Laura having lived in Ballston for 19 years and Steve in Crystal City for the last nine years.

Laura is a vice president at an environmental consulting firm in Arlington where she's worked for the past 24 years to support the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. In her free time, she enjoys practicing yoga, downhill skiing, water skiing, walking, and reading. Steve, formerly a Shakespearean actor in New York City, is a lawyer with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission in DC who loves historic places, historic houses, and antiques; tends a community garden plot on Glebe Road; and is looking forward to learning more about how to take care of the fruit grove the couple now owns in their backyard, including peach, fig, cherry, apricot, pear, and persimmon trees.

The Glencarlyn Pollinator Garden and The Importance of Pollinators

By Ana Karla Coudert & Shrive Beck
Extension Master Gardener Interns

What are pollinators and why are they important to humans? You may have heard that a butterfly is a pollinator, that pollinators flit from flower to flower, and that pollinators are in decline worldwide, but do you know why it matters? Do you know what you can do personally to help pollinators?

A pollinator is an animal that moves pollen (the typically yellow, grain-like substance containing the male genetic material of a flower) to the female parts of the flower. Pollinators include insects such as butterflies, moths, bees, wasps, beetles, flies, as well as hummingbirds and some bats. (The wind also moves pollen but in a more haphazard way.) The beauty of nature is the mutually beneficial relationship that has developed between a pollinator and the flower. The petals of the flower catch the attention of the pollinator who comes looking for nectar. While it is drinking, pollen sticks to its body. The pollinator moves on to the next flower in search of more nectar and some of the pollen rubs off its body and onto the female parts of the flower. Voila! The flower has now been pollinated.

“Great” you say, but so what? This little pollinator has just made it possible for the flower to create a seed that will become a new plant if it is lucky enough to sprout and grow to maturity. To achieve this goal, the flower wraps the seed in various coverings, some of which you think of as food. For example, when you eat fruit (such as tomatoes, apples, grapes, peppers, or squash), nuts, legumes, and grains (like wheat, rice and corn), you are eating either the fleshy or the hard surround of the seed, or you are eating the seed itself!

And it's not just the seed or its surround that we eat. When you eat vegetables, you are eating the leaves, stems, immature flowers, or roots of plants. The USDA website states that “pollinators... are responsible for one in every three bites of food we take”. A Cornell University study from 2010 states that pollinators contribute $29 billion to U.S. farm income. A decline in pollinators means a decline in your food supply!

So what can you do? Support pollinators in your own back yard! It's easy! Stop by the patio area at Glencarlyn Library Community Garden to check out our newly revamped pollinator garden. Pick up a colorful informative brochure from our Education Box and use it as a shopping list at your local native plant nursery. Talk to our Extension Master Gardeners. Rip out a 12-by-6-foot strip of your sunny lawn and plant it with the native plants we've researched for you, or just add some of these plants to your already established landscape beds. Pollinators require a diverse assortment of hard-working native plants that will provide nectar for them from early spring through late fall as well as nesting habitat for the winter.

How will you benefit? Our recommended native plants are beautiful and will provide you with nine months of bloom and a positively humming insect life for your enjoyment. Most importantly, you will be feeding the pollinators that keep us all fed.

Neighborhood Conservation Update:

2nd St S./Kensington & 4th St. S. Sidewalks

By Kathy Reeder

Neighborhood Conservation Delegate

County surveyors recently completed preliminary work for the 2nd St S street improvement project. A new 5 foot concrete sidewalk will be constructed along the north side of 2nd Street S. and along the west side of S. Kensington Street. The sidewalk narrows to 4 foot in width where needed to protect the roots of adjacent mature healthy trees.

This project was funded by the County Board in 2014 but construction was delayed due to the original contractor's performance issues on other county projects. The original contract was terminated, the project was rebid and awarded to a new contractor, and construction is now expected to begin this fall with storm water work.

The start date of construction is dependent on completion of another county project that is ahead of this one and on weather conditions. A pre-construction meeting will be held one to two weeks in advance of the start date, and residents will be notified of the date and time.

County surveyors also recently worked on 4th Street S. in preparation for close-to-final construction drawings for that project. (sidewalk and curb additions to 4th Street S. between S. Illinois and S. Kensington Sts.) The 4th St S. project will be submitted to the County Board in November for funding approval, which is expected to be granted.

Once the project is funded, more details will be available about the anticipated timing of construction. For further information on the scope of the 4th St S. project, please see the NC Activities tab at Glencarlyn.org.

Once-in-a-Century Storm Damages Glencarlyn Park

Flooding and Bridge Damage Photos: Gerald Martineau and Brandon Hemel

By Brandon Hemel

On Monday, July 8, Arlington County experienced severe weather and flooding, getting inundated with a month’s worth of rain in approximately just one hour.

The once-in-a-century storm necessitated the National Weather Service to issue a Flash Flood Emergency, and caused widespread flooding with significant damage to public facilities, roads, businesses and homes.

Arlington County reported six pedestrian bridges — two at Glencarlyn Park, one at Bon Air Park, two at Lubber Run Park, and one at Gulf Branch Nature Center — were destroyed. Additionally, a bridge near the Glencarlyn Dog Park and one at Holmberg Park were damaged.

Disappointing many neighborhood families, Glencarlyn Park playground remains closed until further notice.

As of publication, Arlington County has not announced a timeframe for repairs to the park’s bridges, dog park or playground.

When selling your home, what's the most important factor in choosing the right buyer? Price is important when selling your home, although what's even more critical is the buyer's financial qualifications. Do they have the right lender? Are they prequalified or preapproved? Anyone can go online, get prequalified and based on a quick application obtain a prequalification letter. The consumer fills out the application, and once finalized the system issues a prequalification letter using credit, assets, income and debt based on the consumer's data input. Often the information is wrong. An example is W2 income versus commission income or self-employed income. A buyer might state an annual income of $150,000 if they have a base salary of $50,000 and commission income of $100,000. A lender views commission and self-employment income differently than salaried income. A pre-approval is preferable, where the lender has collected bank statements, tax returns, a full credit report along with a discussion of the buyer's application, documenting assets, income and debt. A good listing agent will be proactive and learn where the buyer is in the actual loan process by speaking with the lender and asking the right questions before committing to a contract. The last thing any seller wants is having a buyer cancel the contract during the financing contingency period, which can take 21 to 25 days. Some online lenders, credit unions, and institutions like USAA are a challenge to work with. They are not accessible for timely communications with realtors, making it hard to ascertain where the buyer is in the process, which is important!
