President's Corner

by Brandon Hemel, GCA President

From the desk of the family dog

For a change in pace, the Hemel family dog, Maria, has asked to write this month's president's corner.

Hello Glencarlyn Hoomans!

I've lived in Glencarlyn for almost my whole life coming from Puerto Rico and adopted through Lost Dog Rescue. Lost Dog Rescue is one of many great pet adoption groups in Arlington. And my family says the pizza from their cafe isn't bad, either. But they don't ever share with me since I am on strict diet of dog food and the occasional ice cream cone.

What I love about Glencarlyn is that we have a great neighborhood full of friendly people and many of them love dogs. My best friend was a dog named Teddy who moved away after his mom and dad had a little hooman. I am often wary of other people who are not my family or other dogs. BUT one of my favorite hoomans is Dean the Dog Walker! He always has treats for me and often talks with my family about how much he loves Glencarlyn, too.

I also love the Mr. Softee truck, especially when they give me a pup cone. I miss the original driver of the truck, but the new drivers are also nice.

I don't often go to the Glencarlyn Park dog park since I don't play with other dogs, and I like to explore the woods on my own – and my family does not like that.

Where we live, we often see deer and foxes but now coyotes have moved in. These coyotes are very noisy at night, especially when fire trucks or ambulances go by. They howl and bark along with the siren sound.

Coyotes migrated to Glencarlyn in the past few years, and although they are scary, I'm told they are mostly harmless. But they are predators, and you should be wary of keeping little dogs outside for extended periods, and they can be dangerous to outside cats.

If you see a coyote, you should yell at it or do something to scare it off. They are getting more accustomed to living in our neighborhood. They like Glencarlyn for the same reasons as we do. Our semi-secluded area has plenty of trees and wildlife.

If a coyote is aggressive to you or to your pets, please notify the Arlington Animal Welfare League by calling (703) 931-9241.

Thank you for reading this and I hope you love our neighborhood as much as I do.

New Neighbors, New Energy: Getting Involved with the GCA

by Katharine Gannon

My name is Katharine Gannon, and I've been serving on the GCA Executive Committee as Secretary since the summer of 2024. My husband and I moved to the Kenmore side of Glencarlyn in the summer of 2023 from Chicago, and we've absolutely loved getting to know the neighborhood, and becoming part of the community.

I'm currently the Director of Sales Development at Elastic, for our U.S. Public Sector business, and I'm in my early 30s. Serving on the Executive Committee has fit in really well with my day-to-day work—it's a manageable time commitment (about two hours a month) and a great way to stay involved while balancing a busy leadership role.

Some of my favorite parts of serving on the exec board have been getting to know more of my neighbors, learning about the real issues impacting our community, and helping make sure our meeting notes are clear, thorough, and useful for everyone. It's been a really rewarding way to stay connected, and give back to the amazing neighborhood. I am also very passionate about the Glencarlyn library and you can find me there quite frequently!

If you are interested in getting involved with the GCA or would like to learn more about the various volunteer opportunities, please don't hesitate to reach out to me at 410-980-5767.

Arlington County Zoning Enforcement: Navigating Compliance and Community Concerns

by Brandon Hemel

Darryl Smith, zoning inspection supervisor from Arlington County spoke at the December 2025 GCA meeting focusing on the permitting process and enforcement.

Zoning Enforcement Overview

Zoning enforcement in Arlington County is overseen by the Department of Community Planning, Housing & Development (CPHD). Zoning officials play a vital role in upholding local ordinances by investigating complaints from residents, conducting inspections, and ensuring that properties adhere to land-use regulations. The enforcement process typically begins when a complaint is submitted, either online, or directly to the zoning office. Officials then review the case, conduct an initial inspection, and, if necessary, issue notices of violation requiring corrective action within a designated timeframe.

For more serious or repeated offenses, enforcement may escalate to civil penalties, court proceedings, or involvement from other county departments. Arlington's zoning team works closely with property owners to resolve issues and offers guidance on how to achieve compliance, emphasizing education, and communication throughout the process.

Short-Term Rental Regulations

In response to the rise of platforms like Airbnb and VRBO, Arlington County enacted specific regulations for short-term rentals, commonly referred to as "homestays." Residents who wish to operate a homestay must obtain a permit, which involves meeting certain requirements such as limits on occupancy, safety standards, and notification of neighbors. The rationale for these rules is to balance the economic benefits of short-term rentals with the need to preserve residential quality of life.

Enforcement actions often focus on properties operating without permits or violating conditions such as hosting too many guests, inadequate fire safety measures, or excessive noise. Notable cases in Arlington have included fines levied against homeowners who repeatedly failed to obtain the necessary homestay permit, as well as corrective orders for those found in violation of occupancy limits.

Home Winter Safety Tips

by Brandon Hemel

January's and early February's extreme cold reminds us that we still have a way to go till winter is over and it sometimes snows in February and March.

Here are a few safety reminders;

- If you heat with a fireplace or wood stove. Have a professional check it, especially if it has been a long time since the last cleaning. Residue can build up and cause fires. Use dry seasoned wood. Unseasoned wood causes extra soot, and smoke increases air pollution for our neighborhood. If you have a wood burning stove, consider wood pellets as they burn cleaner.
Children are especially vulnerable to the health effects of wood smoke because their lungs are still developing.
- Snow Removal. Arlington County Ordinance states that snow must be removed from sidewalks within 24 hours of the end of snowfall. 36 hours if there is more than six inches of snow. It is a public safety issue when sidewalks are not cleared or are icy.
- Safe use of space heaters. Never plug them into extension cords; plug them into wall outlets. Keep space heaters at least three feet from other objects and turn them off before going to bed.

Stay informed during power outages. Be sure you have a battery-powered and/or hand-crank radio (and extra batteries). Get one with the NOAA Weather Radio band so you can hear winter weather reports directly from the National Weather Service as well as local radio stations.

Do not use candles during power outages. Many home fires in winter are caused by candles. Flashlights are much safer. Have plenty of extra batteries.

Family emergency plan. If your family cannot return home because of severe weather or closed roads, you need to decide now on where you will meet to reunite. You also need an out-of-town relative or friend to be your family's emergency contact. Learn more about making a plan for winter weather and all emergencies – and get a free family emergency plan worksheet at ready.gov/plan.

Arlington County Zoning Enforcement: Navigating Compliance and Community Concerns

by Brandon Hemel

Permit Processes and Guidance

Obtaining the proper permits is a crucial step for Arlington residents undertaking new construction, renovations, or launching short-term rentals. The county offers a range of permit types, including variances for unique circumstances, use permits for specific property functions, and building permits to ensure compliance with safety, and environmental codes.

Residents are encouraged to consult the county website or reach out to the Permit Office for guidance. The process typically involves submitting an application, providing supporting documentation, and sometimes attending public hearings if the request impacts surrounding properties. County staff are available to answer questions, clarify requirements, and assist with navigating complex cases.

Community Concerns and Communication

Common zoning complaints in Arlington include unauthorized short-term rentals, unpermitted construction, noise disturbances, and property maintenance issues. These concerns often reflect broader community priorities such as preserving neighborhood character and ensuring public safety. Darryl Smith stressed the importance of engagement, urging residents to report violations, attend public meetings, and participate in planning discussions.

Clear communication between residents and officials helps build trust and facilitates problem-solving. The county provides resources such as online complaint portals, informational workshops, and regular updates on zoning changes to keep the community informed, and involved.

Arlington County's ongoing efforts to enforce zoning regulations and manage short-term rentals are vital to the well-being of local neighborhoods. By promoting compliance, offering guidance, and encouraging community engagement, officials aim to strike a balance between innovation, and tradition. Residents seeking more information, or support are advised to visit the county's zoning, and permitting website, attend local forums, or contact the Permit Office directly. Maintaining open lines of communication, and adhering to established regulations ensures that Arlington remains a vibrant, and welcoming place for all.

National projections show home prices rising about 1.6% this year, with some communities experiencing even stronger appreciation. In Arlington County, single-family homes are expected to see a 3.8% increase from 2025 to 2026. Northern Virginia continues to show notable resilience, driven by steady demand for homeownership—an investment that remains strong over the long term. Arlington Deer Management Program to begin in Feb.

Do you own a business or service and looking to advertise to our local and loyal community?

Please email gcaeditorial@gmail.com to get more information on rates and available space in YOUR neighborhood newsletter.

Arlington County's four years of planning and study has led to a decision to employ a hybrid approach to deer management that includes professional sharpshooting, fencing, and repellants, and continued monitoring. County managed professional sharpshooters will only operate in county parks during the winter when leaves are off to maximize visibility. Park areas will be closed off during the evenings when sharpshooters are present and police will be moni. The GCA will notify residents through GCA updates, Facebook, and the Village View when Deer Management activities will take place in Glencarlyn Park and Long Branch Nature Center.

Arlington Neighborhoods Program (ANP) Update

by Kathy Reeder, Arlington Neighborhoods Advisory Committee (ArNAC) Delegate

Manchester St. and 2nd St. S. – Contract awarded; clear construction timeline not yet available

This funded project will improve the wooded area at the west end of the Kenmore Middle School property, as well as the S. Manchester St. entrance, and frontage, the 2nd St. S. dead end, and the east side of S. Manchester St. Ryan Donlon, whose home is adjacent to the project area, is the block representative.

Procurement activities are wrapping up and preconstruction activities are beginning. Bids were returned in November and a contractor has been chosen and awarded the contract. Construction is estimated for summer 2026, but a clear construction timeline is not yet available. All property easements have been acquired.

County staff finalized a landscape owner's manual for the 2nd St S & S Manchester pollinator garden. It will provide volunteers and interested residents with general and seasonal specific maintenance, including guidelines, and facts for each plant. Staff finalized the text for the garden's educational signage. They will also launch a website once the educational signage is installed. This website will provide garden and maintenance information, including translations, via a QR code on the signage.

IPC, the invasive control contractor hired by Arlington County, completed the fall treatment at the end of September. One more treatment is left, and will take place during summer 2026. Wetland Studies, and Solutions, a consulting firm hired by the county, has completed a tree survey. They will evaluate trees for removal, pruning, or retention once the invasive treatments are complete.

Information about the project is available at tinyurl.com/anpfeb26 and on the Glencarlyn.org website under ANP Activities.

Neighborhood Signs Replacement and Relocation – Timing TBD for S. Manchester St. sign relocation

The old sign located at S. Manchester St./ Arlington Blvd. will be replaced and relocated within the landscape triangle just south of the S. Manchester St. intersection as you head south into Glencarlyn. The new sign will use the same design as the old one and will be angled to face traffic heading south and located in front of the Crepe Myrtle within the triangle. The permitting process is underway. Thanks go to Amanda Martin for coordinating the decision on the sign relocation.

The old neighborhood signs at Arlington Blvd./S. Carlin Springs Rd., and at 5th Rd. S./ S. Carlin Springs Rd have been replaced with new signs, using the same design.

S. Harrison St. Circle – Site for new proposed project

The oval on the S. Harrison St. circle was proposed in November 2025 as Glencarlyn's new first-priority ANP project. It will replace the Moses Ball Spring project (see the September Village View). This new project proposes to remove and replace deteriorating structures, replace invasive plants with natives, help resolve any stormwater management issues and treat the invasive ivy on the west side of S. Harrison St., beginning at 5th St. S.

Volunteers Needed – Opportunity for community service hours!

Volunteers are still needed to help with mowing and caring for the meadow circle trail at the 5th St. S. and S. Illinois entrance to Long Branch Nature Center, and with mowing, weeding, planting, and other maintenance around the three neighborhood signs. For many years, one neighbor has performed most of this work, and is ready to share his knowledge, and pass on the responsibility. This would be a great opportunity for students needing community service hours! If you are willing to help plan and/or carry out this work, please email Kathy Reeder (kathleenreeder@comcast.net).

For questions on any of the ANP projects, please contact Kathy Reeder (kathleenreeder@comcast.net).

Pruning Dormant Shrubs and Trees

From late winter to early spring is an ideal time to prune most shrubs and trees because they are in a dormant state. Selectively removing dead or overgrown branches allows plants to direct their energy into healthy new growth in the spring. This will improve a plant's health, appearance, and productivity.

Tools Needed

To prune effectively, you will need the right tools:

- Hand pruners (for small limbs up to $\frac{3}{4}$ inch thick)
- Loppers (for limbs $\frac{3}{4}$ inch to two inches thick)
- Pruning saws (for large limbs over two inches)
- Pole pruners (for high branches without climbing)
- Gloves and safety glasses (for protection)

Always sterilize tools before and after use with rubbing alcohol or a bleach solution to prevent disease spread.

Types of Pruning

Proper pruning involves different techniques to keep a plant at a chosen size, shape, and density. Following are several examples:

Thinning cut is the removal of an entire branch back to the main trunk or stem to open up the plant's structure. Cut the limb just above the branch collar to stimulate growth along the main branch. (See Figure 1)

Heading cut is shortening the length of the branch to encourage bushier growth. Remove the top portion of the branch back to a specific bud. Cut $\frac{1}{4}$ inch above the bud at a 45-degree angle. This will activate the buds beneath the cut to become new branches. (See Figure 2)

Three-cut method is used to remove a tree branch. Start by identifying the branch collar; or where the branch meets the trunk of the tree.

First cut: six-twelve inches from the branch collar, saw one-third of the way through the underside of the branch. This undercut will prevent peeling the bark back to the branch collar.

Second cut: on the top of the branch, three inches from your undercut, saw through the branch removing it.

Third cut: saw off the remaining stub just in front of the branch collar. (See Figure 3)

In all cases, when pruning shrubs or trees, it is always important to use the one-third rule:

Never remove more than one-third of the plant.

Seed Donation During Winter

by Samuel Pulcrano

The winter season presents an excellent opportunity to support the community's seed library by donating any unused, purchased, or harvested seeds. Donors are asked to place them in the designated bin in the seed cabinet located on the back wall of the library.

Master Gardeners will repackage them into smaller packets so they will be available to the community when spring arrives and planting begins.

See the View from the Garden article on our Seed Library in the September 2025 Village View at tinyurl.com/villageviewfeb26

Volunteers Needed to Help with Watering the Garden

by Samuel Pulcrano

The Glencarlyn Library Garden Coordinators are looking for a few volunteers to help with watering during the upcoming growing season (late spring through early fall). Regular watering makes a significant difference in keeping the plants healthy and welcoming for the whole community.

Watering takes about an hour once a week (turn on timer for sprinkler or hose and come back to put away and/or hand water planters), and schedules are flexible (morning or evening). No experience is needed—just a little time and willingness to help. This is a wonderful way to support a shared community space and enjoy some time outdoors.

Interested? Please contact Linda Carney (miaberley@mac.com) or Sam Pulcrano (spulcrano2@msn.com). Thank you for helping keep our garden growing!
